Kay Tucker

Kay Tucker began studies on the cello at the age of 12, continuing at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama. Kay's passion for teaching led her to develop an early year's strings & general musicianship system known as 'Stringbabies'. Since its inception in 2004, 'Stringbabies' has become well established and accepted as a leading approach in strings teaching and is being delivered throughout the UK and abroad in individual teaching practices, schools and music services. In 2013 and 2014, Stringbabies was shortlisted for the Inaugural Rhinegold Music Teachers Awards for Excellence in music education. Working in partnership with Victoria College Examinations, Kay has developed the Stringbabies Award; a 3-tier qualification for beginner strings players.

Anita Felton

Anita Felton started playing the recorder at Junior school and continued to enjoy ensemble playing throughout Secondary school alongside her cello studies. She studied music at Southampton University where a lifelong interest in playing Renaissance music was kindled. Since then, recorder playing (plus many other period instruments) has been a large part of her musical life. Anita has been teaching recorder and cello since the 1990's, both privately and in schools to all age groups from 6 years to 60 years.
